Biographical Sketch

Randolph D. Rubin

Born in Columbus, Texas, in 1919, Randolph D. Rubin and his family moved to West Texas and settled in Wink in the mid-thirties. Upon graduating from Wink High School, Randy elected to go to New York where he completed studies at the New York Institute. He returned to Wink in 1938 and opened his first studio. In 1941, he moved to Midland where he opened a camera shop. After World War II, his twin brother Rudy took over operation of the shop when Randy opened his first Midland studio. In 1957, Rubin moved his studio to its present location, the corner of Ohio and Colorado Streets. With over fifty years of photography experience, Rubin was considered a photographer extraordinaire by his peers. From the 1940s to the 1980s, his subjects included weddings, family gatherings, children, servicemen, fashions and business establishments. Rubin's reputation for high quality portraiture continued throughout his life – as witnessed by his more recent portraits of many of The Petroleum Hall of Fame honorees in the museum's gallery. (from Museum Memo, Vol. 23, No. 4, July-August 1993)

Scope and Content

This collection contains letters, article clippings, photographic prints and negatives, certificates, and other documents relevant to Randolph Rubin's professional photography career in Midland, Texas, from the 1940s to his death in 1990. These materials were transferred to the Library & Archives Center as part of the Rubin photography collection in 1993. They have been organized by similar materials; for instance, forms and correspondence are in chronological order while prints and negatives are housed together. The forms and correspondence found in Box 1 mostly
